Print Audit & Analysis

Your business needs to run at optimum efficiency levels if it is to compete successfully, respond to customer expectations and enjoy future growth and prosperity. Any weak link in your print operations can damage your operational efficiency, staff productivity and eat up cost!

Imprint is our specialist division that deals with detailed print analyses and audits. Following a thorough assessment of your existing print fleet, we will make specific recommendations designed to maximise your efficiency levels, print operations and workplace productivity.

Once implemented, these recommendations will have an immediate impact, leading to visible reductions in your operational costs, and possibly in leasing/rental expenses too.

Make an impact on your business outcomes

The key to good management is access to sound intelligence, which is exactly what an Imprint audit provides. It gives you all the information you need to make rational and reasoned decisions that benefit your business outcomes.

Cost incurred through printing can consume up to 3% of your annual revenues, so there's no room for systems that don't deliver.

The focused print audit service

With all the information that the Imprint report will provide for you, plus the expert recommendations that are also included, you have the perfect platform to manage your print fleet and keep it operating at optimum levels.

In addition, by acting on the recommendations you'll benefit from greater staff productivity. The capital cost of each device will be governed and the rising costs of paper, power and consumables will be brought back under your control.

A target approach to streamlined print

The report will catalogue your entire print fleet - detailing makes, models, capabilities etc, but more importantly all the associated costs. It also identifies potential savings on capital costs, as well as expenses on paper, power and consumables.

Each Imprint audit is unique and every analysis individual. Based on a physical survey, the resulting report is purpose-prepared just for you, about your business.

The information we provide and the recommendations we present to you relate precisely to the technology you have, the way it is used for your business and how it's operated by your staff.
